Former White Rock athlete bride of Flight Lieutenant in Sask.

A wedding of wide local interest took place Saturday August 15, in the Protestant Chapel of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Saskatoon, Sask., when Heather Adelle Walker, a former well known White Rock athlete exchanged marriage vows with Flight Lieutenant George Graham Waddell.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Walker of White Rock and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Waddell of Ste Rose, P.Q. The groom's home base is the RCAF Station at Trenton, Ontario.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full afternoon length chapel veil of snow white lace with pearl headpiece of Egyptian coronet. Her gown of Simplicity was designed in Paris.

She carried a bouquet of white roses and blue carnations. The bride was attended by her sister, Fern, who chose a full afternoon length blue dress, tiara and jewelled veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Best man was F/L Frank Sylvester of Chatham, N.B., and usher was F/L Harold Brown of Saskatoon.

The Chapel was decorated with white gladioli for the ceremony at which F/L Rev. W. Chapman officiated.

The bride's uncle, Professor George Walker of Edmonton, Alta., proposed the toast to the bride which followed at the Officers Mess of the RCAF Station.

Telegrams were read from friends in Vancouver, Montreal, Calgary, Clinton, Ont. and Ottawa.

For her going away costume the bride chose a blue silk print and powder blue coat with matching accessories. The wedding trip has been postponed until after the Pan American Games, Sept. 8-9 in Chicago, in which Mrs. Waddell will participate.

Following the Games, Mr. and Mrs. Waddell will make their home at the RCAF Station in Winnipeg.

The bride tossed her bouquet to members of the Canadian All Star Women's Basketball Team. Shirley Topley of Vancouver caught it on the "rebound."

Miss Inge Sussbauer to teach piano lessons here in September

White Rock will have another piano teacher in its midst as of next month.

Miss Inge Sussbauer, a student of the piano for the past 12 years, will now be teaching in her home at 1351 Foster St.

Inge first began taking piano lessons at Mission City when she resided near there with her parents. Since moving to White Rock five years ago Miss Sussbauer has commuted to Vancouver to receive instruction from one of Vancouver's most prominent teachers.

Under this instruction, Miss Sussbauer has received high marks in her Toronto Conservatory exams and as well in her theory.

This year Inge will complete her teachers degree and will put all the newest teaching methods into practice.

Last summer Miss Sussbauer went to Regina to take a piano teachers music course conducted by Boris Berlin of the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Mr. Berlin lectured on the many different ways of teaching individuals ranging from grade one to grade ten in music.

Psychology was also discussed in order that teachers could have a better understanding of their pupils.

Miss Sussbauer has already had some experience as a teacher and feels her studio is ideal.

Woman's group to meet on Sept. 1

The regular meeting of the Woman's Association of the First United Church will be held in the Church lounge, Tuesday, September 1 at 2 p.m.

A Christian Education program has been arranged.

Mrs. W. Cooper and Mrs. L. W. Dodds will report on the summer course at the Naramata Christian Training Centre. Miss A. R. Laing will conduct the worship period. Her subject is "Team Work."

Local committees will report. All interested ladies are invited to attend.

Book Review

"THE HARMLESS PEOPLE" by Elizabeth Marshall Thomas. This is a fascinating account of an ancient but little known people—the Bushmen of Africa. The author made several trips among them; she lived with them, moved when they moved, sharing their joys and many of their privations. The result is a warm and moving account of the habits and ways of life of the little people of the Kalahari Desert in South West Africa.

They have learned to live on very little food and to go for months without water. Their diet consists mainly of roots, cucumbers and melons. Mrs. Thomas recalls that the Bushmen have a high sense of the proprieties, are proud and independent, and have a deep communal sense.

All food is equally divided and no one has the lion's share. They live on the edge of peril and death, and knowing danger, they prize life greatly, and help each other to survive.

Fir plywood emergency car bed folds up flat when not in use

A useful accessory for the family car is a portable car bed. It can be folded flat for storage when not in use. Top of the bed is simply two pieces of half-inch fir plywood, hinged along the centre line so that they fold flat when not in use. Smaller pieces of the same thickness fir plywood are hinged at each end, making "legs" to support the part of the bed that spans the car floor.

To some extent, the dimensions of the family car will determine the actual size of the folding bed. The figures given in the diagram are for the average automobile.

If the finished car bed is primed and painted, and provision is made on the underside for temporary legs, it can serve the double purpose of a camp table when not being slept on.

Gas for Ladner by mid-September

Natural gas will be available in Ladner and South Delta by mid-September, B.C. Electric Fraser Valley gas manager Al Macdonald reports.

Mr. Macdonald stated that a $120,000 contract has been awarded to Mannix Ltd. for installation of a 12-inch pipeline from the Tilbury Island area to a valve station to be constructed on Benson Road, just north of Ladner Trunk Road.

From this receiving station, some 53,000 feet of six and four inch pipe is being installed to deliver the gas the Ladner and South Delta.

"In addition," Mr. Macdonald said, "some 56,000 feet of distribution pipe will be installed in the Tsawwassen Beach Grove area and some 24,000 feet in Ladner. About 30 men are working on the distribution project.

Total cost of bringing gas into these areas exceeds $600,000, Mr. Macdonald said. The gas system is scheduled for completion by mid-September.

The 12-inch pipeline bringing the gas into the area is a spur from another transmission line running from North Surrey to South Vancouver.

This main line, costing about $4,000,000, runs from the Roebuck Road area in Surrey, through Delta's Burns Bog to Tilbury Island and under the south arm of the Fraser. From here, the line crosses Richmond, under the north arm of the River and on into South Vancouver.

New country club opened

DAVE KING

WILLIAM JENNINGS

CO-OWNERS of a new country club in Surrey, Bill Jennings and Dave King are inviting people to inspect their premises, the Panorama Ridge Country Club, south of New McMillan Road and east of King George Highway. The official opening will be the latter part of July and accommodation is available for 200 guests. For a short while the club will cater to banquets, wedding receptions, dinner dancing, and a smorgasbord, but plans are to establish a private club with swimming pool, tennis courts, social recreation, cocktail lounge, and golf course.

Dave and Bill have developed the club on Woodward Hill to provide clean, fresh surroundings with a relaxed atmosphere. Spacious windows go all the way around the building and overlook Crescent Beach and Esplanade Bay while Mt. Baker provides a back drop. Inside the lighting can be either direct or indirect when the drapes are drawn.

Youth acquitted on assault charge

A 20 year old North Surrey youth has been acquitted on a charge of common assault.

Magistrate S. H. Gilmour dismissed the charge against Donald Scheldrup, 13419 68th Ave., North Surrey, when he appeared in city police court Tuesday. Scheldrup had been held in custody since August 13 after pleading not guilty to a charge of assaulting White Rock Taxi driver Robert Mosdell. The incident was alleged to have occurred on July 31.

Magistrate Gilmour acquitted the youth after the complainant failed to appear in court. A Kenneth Thompson, appearing for the crown, said that Mosdell was now employed at Prince Rupert and was unable to attend. He said however the crown wished to continue with the case. The prosecutor said he had no witnesses to call.

The Magistrate said that complainants should not lay charges if they did not intend on appearing in court. He said it was "not right" as the youth had been held since August 12.

The case had previously been remanded on two occasions. Scheldrup has been remanded in Surrey police court on a charge of being in possession of stolen goods and other assault charges.

Surrey batsmen have bad day

The Surrey Cricket Club were beaten by the North Shore Cricket Club at the Norgate ground, in North Vancouver, on Saturday, in a Mainland League game.

John Barber, for Surrey, took a wicket in the first half of the game; he was the best bowler for Surrey, taking 5 wickets for 51 runs, he was supported by Denis Flawith, with 3 wickets for 16 runs, and Jim Howes, with 2 wickets for 23. North Shore total was 180 runs.

Surrey batsmen had a bad afternoon, with Alex Brady the only batsmen reaching double figures, with 17 runs, the side being dismissed for 38 runs.

Next game will be played at Bear Creek Park, on Saturday, August 29 at 2 p.m., when Surrey entertains South Hill.

Mrs. F. C. Child returns to London

Mrs. F. C. Child of London, England, left by plane on Friday, after spending three months with her sister, Mrs. Fricker of 13396 Victoria Ave. They visited Mrs. Child's sister in law at Long Beach for two weeks then her daughter in law, Mrs. Fricker, for one month.

While there, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dunn of San Francisco flew to Salt Lake to visit her, as Mrs. Dunn had lived with Mrs. Child before her marriage.

A niece, Mrs. Robertson, of Edmonton, who Mrs. Child had not seen for 50 years, came to White Rock for a week, for a reunion.

Mrs. Child would like to thank all the friends and neighbors here for their kindness shown to her while on her trip.

PSL informs council of proposed sched. changes

Pacific Stage Lines have informed city council of certain schedule changes the company proposes making on September 18.

J. E. Allan, manager, sent council a letter Tuesday announcing the following changes which will affect the residents of White Rock.

Trips No. 202 and 6410. Trip No. 202, which operates from Vancouver to White Rock at 9:55 a.m. via the Deas Island Tunnel and Trip No. 6410, the connecting trip at 9:25 a.m. for passengers from New Westminster will not operate during the fall and winter months. Prior to May 29 this trip left Vancouver at 9:10 a.m. but was poorly patronized. It averaged less than 5 passengers per trip into White Rock.

Trips No. 6412 and 208. These trips were added for the summer months only. They operated on a "Sunday Only" basis at 11:55 a.m. and 12:25 p.m. from Vancouver and will no longer operate effective September 18.

Trip No. 210. This trip which operated from Vancouver at 9:40 p.m. "Sundays Only" was added for the summer months.

It will no longer operate effective September 18.

Trip No. 102. Operates on Sundays only at 9:40 a.m. It is proposed that this trip will leave Vancouver at 10:10 a.m. and thereby provide a more even distribution of service on Sunday morning.

Trip No. 6419. Prior to May 29 this trip left White Rock at 8:25 a.m. It was poorly patronized during six of the seven days of the weeks it operated and according to our records operated less than three passengers per trip. It is proposed therefore that during the fall and winter months this trip will operate on a "Sunday Only" basis.

MONTREAL — Eastern and Western Canada will be less than five hours apart early next year when Trans-Canada Air Lines takes delivery of the first of six ordered 127-passenger, 550-mile-an-hour Douglas DC-8 jetliners. The aircraft will go into service on trans-continental and trans-Atlantic routes, cutting present flying times by more than one-third. The first of the Rolls-Royce-powered DC-8s, pictured here, flew at Long Beach, Calif., on July 23. Inset is a photograph of TCA's first passenger aircraft, a 10-passenger, 200-mile-an-hour Lockheed Electra, purchased in 1957 and used on trans-continental air service. The Electra was only 50 feet in length, while the DC-8 stretches 140 feet from nose to tail. The two are shown here in comparative size. The DC-8 devours more fuel in taxi-ing and take-off than the Electra was capable of carrying. (TCA PHOTO)

Safety tips for Labor holiday

The most dangerous weekend of the whole year — the Labor Day weekend — is looming right ahead.

Traffic increase greatly in the short period between Friday, September 4, and Tuesday, September 8. As traffic grows, tempers flare, drivers become careless and the perils of the highway pop up everywhere.

Here are some suggestions by the B.C. Automobile Association to help guide you through the Labor Day traffic as well as recurrent dangers during the rest of the year:

Avoid excessive speeds. Always remember that a steady, reasonable speed will get you where you are going practically as soon and definitely safer than too high speeds.

Watch for, and obey, traffic signs and pavement markings. They were put there by experts after intensive surveys, and for your protection.

Never fail to leave plenty of stopping space between your car and the vehicle ahead.

Be as considerate of other motorists as you would have them be of you.

Good conversationalist can disagree, agreeably

The best conversationalists are those who can learn to disagree without bling disagreeable.

So says an article by Author Jack Harrison who points out that you don't have to be a "Yes man" to be rated a pleasant talker. It's all in how you phrase your disagreement, he writes.

Here are some other tips included in his article, "Ten Keys to Being a Good Conversationalist."

Listen Attentively. Many people concentrate so hard on what they plan to say next that they don't hear the other fellow.

Talk about the other person's interests. If you encourage him to discuss his pet projects, you will never suffer an awkward silence.

Avoid dull details. It doesn't really matter if an incident happened on Monday or Thursday. Stick to the important facts of your story.

Speak precisely. If you jump from one topic to another, the chances are your listeners will get lost and give up.

Avoid interrupting. If you really must break in, try to do it gracefully. Use the name of the person you are interrupting to "John, may I add something to what you just said?"

Be tolerant and tactful. If the speaker irritates you, try to concentrate on the facts. Forget his personality.

Be free with your praise. But remember to direct it toward something specific. Telling a speaker you liked his speech, for example, is less meaningful than praising a specific point he made. It shows you really listened.

the Snapshot Guild

A snapshot of the bride and groom cutting the wedding cake is essential to your picture-story. Arrange it carefully and take two or three shots to make sure you will have a good one.

Make Your Wedding Pictures Tell a Story

Of all the occasions that call for pictures, surely a wedding is one of the most important. And a wedding is a natural for a connected picture story.

The formal pictures will probably be taken by a professional photographer, but that won't prevent the amateur fans from clicking their cameras, too. If you are one of these amateurs and one of the principals is a relative or close friend, you might make a picture story your wedding gift. If so, you can be sure that it will be among the most treasured gifts they will receive whether your story is in black-and-white or color, in slides or in movies.

For many of us, the inexpensive snapshot camera is the one we know best. We know that all we have to do is to get the picture we want into the viewfinder and press the shutter — release gently to avoid any camera movement.

With our flash attachments, we know we can get some good interior shots in the church, at the reception and at home whether we're using black-and-white or color film, and that a flash bulb is good for fill-in lighting when we are taking shots outdoors.

There are, of course, other types of cameras that are almost as easy to use such as the 35mm cameras that give you such wonderful slides and, nowadays, practically anyone can take excellent movies with the popular-priced 8mm and 16mm cameras.

But no matter what kind of camera you have, you'll get far better and more satisfying results if you take a few minutes to write down the scenes that, when combined, will tell the most interesting story.

Figure out where you think your story should begin and go on from there, step by step, until the last shot where you show the happy couple in their be-ribboned car as they set off on their honeymoon. If there was a camera among their wedding presents they can do the honeymoon chapter themselves. They won't want you around!

On the wedding day, be at the church in time to picture the arrival of the groom and of the bridal party. In some churches it is permissible to take pictures during the ceremony, but you'd better make sure before you try it. Then, hurry to the back of the church for a picture as the bride and groom come down the aisle and, again, on the church steps. At the reception, be sure to get a picture when the couple cuts the wedding cake.

— George H. Kay

Friendly hunting season ahead for B.C. folk

British Columbia hunters can look forward to the friendliest hunting season opening on record, thanks to a lot of work on the part of the fish and game clubs in B.C. and their parent organization, the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs.

Never before have so many acres of forest land been open to deer and grouse hunters, and never before have so many hunters been aware of the immense trust they are given in being made responsible for the safety of our forested land.

For several months now, a committee of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs has been studying the access problem in this province. Facts have been gathered from Victoria to the Kootenays and from the International border to the Yukon. Out of this fact-finding will come recommendations to government and industry on the needs to maintain ample land for future generations of hunters and fishermen.

Meanwhile, logging companies, particularly on Vancouver Island, have opened more and more gates to sportsmen, despite a long period when few men were working in the woods and several critical periods when forest fire danger was at its peak. During these periods, the International Woodworkers of America guaranteed fire fighting crews despite a strike of operations.

Vancouver Island fish and game clubs accepted temporary closures and guaranteed that their members would not venture onto forest while the fire hazard was at its peak.

With the opening of the grouse and deer season, many more hunters will head for the woods, and it is the sincere hope of the organized sportsmen of B.C. that they will use every caution to prevent any mishap which could interfere with logging operations anywhere.

The Federation is again using its slogan, "Leave the forest the way you found it," in its campaign for a safe and sane hunting season opening.

"This is a crucial season for sportsmen," stated Bruno Reimer, Federation President. "This is the year we prove that we are fully aware of our responsibility to the landowner and the logger. Access in future years will depend on our 1959 record, so let's plan to keep it clean."

Access to private land granted for B.C. hunters

The farmers of B.C. can expect more gentlemanly hunters this year, a survey made by B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs has shown.

The Federation, parent body of all fish and game clubs in B.C., has been studying access to farm and forested land for several months and has found that the highest level of friendship between land owner and sportsmen exists in the farm and ranchland of Interior B.C. and the forests of Vancouver Island. In Interior B.C. the cordial understanding has reached new high levels this year. Members of the Kelowna and District Rod and Gun Club actually protested that the pheasant shooting hours were too long and that hunting after 4 p.m. would annoy orchard workers. They are asking hunters to stay out of the orchards after that hour.

Arrangements for access to farmland in the Interior in many cases, hinges on the sportsman being a member of a fish and game club and carrying group liability insurance, which generally goes along with membership. On some land, access is limited, but a special series of signs informs the sportsman, as he enters the farm gate. In the Fraser Valley, hunters are expected to ask permission before venturing on any farm land, even if it is not posted. This, the Federation reminds is only common courtesy.

A committee of executives of the Federation is currently studying access problems in B.C. and will make recommendations to government and land owners as soon as its findings are complete. Meanwhile, Federation President Bruno Reimer, of Trail, has asked that every hunter treat the 1959 season as a crucial one in which the sportsmen's behaviour will count toward future access to recreational lands.

"It's up to us to prove we deserve access to private land before we can hope to get it in the future," he stated. "I call on every hunter to make this a safe and sane hunting season — one the farmer will remember when we talk about taking down the NO TRESPASSING signs. If Interior hunters can do it, so can hunters in every other part of B.C."

It's a big day in the life of a little girl when she cooks for the first time, and a very proud moment when she presents her first dish to the family. Your daughter will enjoy owning the Carnation Company's "Fun to Cook Book" when her cooking career is to begin. This book has been prepared for youngsters 7 to 14 years old, and contains valuable information written in easy-to-understand style for children. Beginning with directions for correct measuring, description and use of utensils, and proper kitchen procedures, the book continues with an interesting assortment of recipes and menus featuring the dishes. Colorful sketches throughout the book create special appeal for youngsters... big, clear print is easy to read, and spiral bound pages make it possible to stand the book up while in use. The covers are washable... another important advantage.

Let your daughters start the fun of cooking, and see how they enjoy turning out a delicious casserole, handsome desserts, pretty salads, candies, soups, sandwiches, for meals 'round the clock.

Easy upkeep keyword for recreation room

Easy upkeep is the key word when you plan your recreation room. Unlike the living room — where practicality is frequently bypassed for the sake of appearance — your recreation room should require minimum upkeep. The nice thing is that you needn't sacrifice attractiveness.

Choose your wall and ceiling surfaces carefully. Wood paneling is the prime favorite. If you have a fireplace, you might break the monotony of wood by facing the fireplace wall with ceramic tile. In planning your tile wall, introduce flashes of bright color by 'spotting' the wall with a variety of jewel-colored tiles. Once installed, there will be no upkeep and your unusual wall will be the focal point of your room.

Select practical fabrics and sturdy furniture. An old door, supported with six short legs, will double as a fireplace seat or coffee table. Cover large airfoam cushions with bright, striped sailcloth or denim.

These can act as cushions on your fireplace seat, or be tossed on the floor for the small fry to curl up on.

Keep a supply of dishes, a kettle, a double burner cooking unit in your recreation room. Half the joy of your fun room will be lost if you have to dash upstairs when the family demands a round of hot chocolate and a late evening snack.

Resist the temptation to move in the discarded furniture from the rest of the house. Underfurnish rather than overfurnish. Leave lots of room to move around, to dance, play games.

Unpainted furniture offers a splendid opportunity to furnish simply and economically. A comfortable furniture grouping in front of the fireplace is desirable: a pair of comfortable chairs, a fireplace seat, extra cushions, a pair of reading lamps and, perhaps, a bright scatter rug. But beware of scatter rugs in the rest of the room.

Bright, clear colors are recommended and use lots of yellow if your room tends to be dark. You will have extra interest in the textural contrast of the soft glow of your wood paneling and the gleaming surface of your fireplace wall of ceramic tile.

Most of all, your recreation room should be a cheerful family fun room where Mom needn't keep a weather eye for cake and crumb spills!

Growing interest in elections?

The general apathy on the part of the public towards elections at the local level in the past may not have such a forward role when White Rock and Surrey voters go to the polls this December. Both officials in the city and municipality have indicated there is an enlivened interest towards the coming elections and should lists may hit an all-time high.

This is an optimistic view. As yet it is based merely on the reaction by the public to the request by civic and municipal officials that all eligible voters register for the voters list immediately or check to make sure their names are already on the list. Both White Rock and Surrey officials have in the past experienced numerous complaints by people who did not find their names on the list. They had no one to blame but themselves. Had these people taken the trouble to investigate prior to the closing deadline they would have been eligible to cast their ballot and thus have a say in the government of their community.

We strongly suggest that everyone in both White Rock and Surrey peruse the information regarding the voters list which have appeared in recent editions of the Sun and read the news story in last week's paper so they may understand fully their position in regard to casting a ballot.

If you still do not understand your status after studying this information contact either the municipal or city hall and the staff there will be glad to enlighten you on any points that are not clear. It is of the utmost importance that every eligible voter casts a ballot in the forthcoming elections so don't lose your right to vote because of a technicality.

The December election is of great significance to White Rock because the people will be voting for mayoralty candidates. Three aldermen will also be chosen for a two-year term. It is up to the public alone to decide whether they wish to put their trust in the present mayor and aldermen should they stand for office again or choose a new slate. The only way your opinions will carry any weight in this matter is by a vote.

There have been many controversial issues in Surrey since the last municipal election with perhaps the present water by-law issue taking precedence over all else. Many residents have indicated their dissatisfaction over council's handling of the water problem but their complaints are ill founded unless they get out and cast their vote this December.

How to live longer

Somewhere about the age of 40, husbands and fathers usually get around to giving serious attention to things like their wills, their estates and what would happen if the inevitable death were to come along unexpectedly early. They have acquired insurance and perhaps investments over the years, but it is usually around age 40 (according to psychologists) that the enormity of the whole thing comes home and they force themselves into serious study of the grim possibilities. Now, for the first time, in most cases, there is a good long look taken at succession duties.

The look at succession duties frequently concludes with the remark that a tax-ridden Canadian today, young or old, just cannot afford to die.

This is an expression, of course, and as one student of succession duties remarked, it is not quite true. On becoming dead, one has nothing to worry about. It is the family and successors who have to worry about whether or not they can afford the loss of the family tax-exemption.

Having reached this clear, unemotional conclusion, one such tax-earner said he would hurry home and explain it to the potential successors, a young, pleasant wife and three fine but somewhat exhausting children. His idea was that, once his family was convinced of the necessity of keeping him alive, they might among themselves organize a few more life-extending devices such as slippers and pine after dinner, and a perpetual dispensation from drying the dishes.

It seems worth the try, though most wives and children are almost as tough bargainers as the department of national revenue.

—The Printed Word

WE ELECT THEM

This province has men galore of good executive ability whose experience would be an asset to any public utility. Could be Mayors or Reeves or Aldermen, any such sphere. But especially in Parliament, but refuse because of fear of distortion of their actions by political opposition whose chief effort is to harass from any possible position. To distort, misrepresent, give false coloring to confuse. There's not limit to methods political opponents will use. One may be honest and sincere, well respected and all that. But for any public office, he won't throw in his hat. Just read your favorite paper, all there for you to see. How some Provincial politicians continuously disagree. It is easy to criticize, harangue, rant and antagonize. Electing such men to office, can things be otherwise?

Learning about money Labor Day tribute to 'the industrial spirit'

by Nancy Cleaver

Visitors sometimes give a little child a dime or a quarter. A youngster may regard these coins the same as other playthings. He soon learns that that mother and daddy place money in a special class.

A small boy who has been allowed to play with keys and other small trinkets in his mother's purse, opens it, from curiosity, and takes out the money from her purse. As he is busy spreading it on the floor, he is surprised to find how cross his mother is that he has touched her money!

A child may dream of finding a large sum of money, even adults indulge in this improbable fantasy. But there are many things about money which parents want their child to learn during their childhood. Boys and girls seem to be constantly wanting a dime or a quarter to buy this or that. Parents are forced to make decisions about their children and money.

As soon as a child is old enough to go into stores with his mother, he observes her opening her purse and parting with money in exchange for desirable objects. She explains to him that he must not lift a toy car off the counter and go off with it "until Mummy has given the clerk the money for it."

What are some practical suggestions which parents can try out in teaching their child the value and wise use of money?

A child can only learn to use money well by experience, just as he learns to write by writing or play the piano by practicing on it. Around the time he is old enough to count, to keep track of coppers and nickels and dimes, he should be given a regular weekly allowance.

The amount depends on the father's income, the child's age, experience, the average amount his chums have to spend in a week. The little child should not be forced "to keep accounts." If this appeals to him, well and good, but there is little value in forcing him to write down all his expenditures. The essence of an allowance is that it is the child's own money, to be spent as he wishes — not to be taken away as a punishment and he should not be pressed to put part of it aside in order to save. A small child has little interest in long term saving. But gradually he learns to forego today's pleasure in a 10-cent balloon in order to buy a 30-cent toy motor boat tomorrow!

It is not easy to make provision for younger public school children to earn money at home. There is always the problem that if a boy is paid for carrying out ashes or shovelling a walk or mowing a lawn or a girl is given money for dusting, or washing dishes or making beds, the son or daughter in the house will come to think that they need never help with the work of the house unless they are paid. A child should have certain regular tasks as a member of the house in order to help Mummy or Daddy and other special jobs which he can do or not as he likes, for a certain sum of money.

Learning to use money is a long, slow process. It is something some adults never learn. A child must be allowed to make his own mistakes, to find out for himself the things money can buy — and also be taught the values in life which money cannot buy!

Friends invited to Newton IOOF Home

Guests at the IOOF Residence Home for the Aged, 6543 King George Highway, Newton, are inviting their friends and neighbours to tea on Saturday, August 29, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Tea will be served in the garden and the silver collection will go towards Christmas cheer for the guests.

Labor Day can be variously defined as the end of summer, the beginning of the school year; a national traffic jam; or just simply an excuse for a long weekend away from the office.

But the founder of the holiday, Peter J. McGuire, conceived it as a tribute to the industrial spirit, the great vital force of every nation.

In 1882, McGuire, a leader in the Knights of Labor, proposed that a day be set aside to honor the working man. He suggested the first Monday in September, since it came almost midway between Independence Day and Thanksgiving Day.

The Central Labor Union of New York adopted his proposal and held the first Labor Day celebration on September 5. As McGuire had suggested, the union paraded through the streets of Manhattan, to show the strength and spirit of trade and labor organizations.

Shortly after, the Knights of Labor voted for an annual celebration. In 1884, the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada — predecessor of the American Federation of Labor — voted to make the celebration national.

The first state to make Labor Day a legal holiday was Oregon, in 1887, according to The World Book Encyclopedia. The legislatures of Colorado, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York quickly followed suit and, in 1894, Congress made Labor Day a national holiday.

Explosions Not Cause

Editor, White Rock Sun.

Dear Sir,

The fire on Friday, August 14 which destroyed our crab fishing equipment and buildings, was not caused by any explosions as reported in last week's paper. There was no gasoline stored in the buildings and the one gas drum in the area was moved farther away to safety by bystanders.

Though we were on holidays at the time, all the reports we have received, including that from the Sunnyvale Fire Department, point to three juvenile boys who were seen lighting matches and building bonfires in the area. We suppose it was more carelessness that prompted them to light a fire near our buildings and then leave without putting it out, but it could have been a truly dangerous mistake had any residence been involved.

Our thanks to the Sunnyvale fire crew and the bystanders who contained the fire and saved the boat.

Sincerely,
Ruth and Ed Kendall.

Members of the public will be invited to talk for 15 seconds on a telephone. When the phaser user finishes his message, a recording of what has said will be played back over the line. Relatives and friends will be able to listen in on other telephones.

A device similar to the one used in this demonstration was tried out by Queen Elizabeth during her visit to Chicago. Another section of the telephone company's display features telephones of the 20th century, ranging from a 1906 phone to a streamlined 1960 model, multi-line and inter-communication desk instrument.

Operation of the dial system will be explained by telephone girls. A large illuminated map, pinpointing location of microwave towers across Canada, will underline the importance of the microwave system in the transmission of long distance calls and television programs.

'Old Canada' highlights trip

Mrs. Robert Cooper and her mother, Mrs. A. Williams, have just returned from a trip which took them across Canada, visiting N.B., N.S., P.E.I. and home via the Gaspé Peninsula and down the St. Lawrence River to Quebec and Montreal.

The Cape Breton Highlands and the journey down the south bank of the Gulf and St. Lawrence River were highlights of the trip.

The latter, especially was enjoyable, as it was restful and quaint.

The village folk bake bread in outdoor ovens which they sell to tourists and the youngsters play with homemade wooden toys (ships and trucks). These folk live two or three hundred miles east of Quebec City and probably will never see it as they travel mainly by carriage drawn by one or two horses, Mrs. Cooper reports.

GOOD TIME TO PLANT LAWNS

If you are contemplating the planting of a new lawn, now is the time to get everything ready to sow it in September. The best time to sow grass is in late summer. Fall sowing gives at least six weeks of growing weather, plus the fall rains. Making a lawn at this time also gives the grasses a jump on the spring weeds.

If, in your part of the country, spring seeding is necessary, March is preferable to April. Whether you plant in fall or spring, use great care in watering the seeded area, for the seeds are easily washed away.

It is essential that the site for the lawn should be very well prepared before seeding it down. The ground must be worked well, raked, rolled, then raked and rolling again, and making certain that all little depressions and high spots are levelled over. That is why preparation should be done well ahead of the final raking. Also, it is advisable to do it early enough so that small seedling weeds may be hoed or raked over, and killed rather than let them germinate and grow with the young grass.

This sowing of the grass seed done in September has also the advantage over the spring sown lawn, that the young grass has the added advantage of being better established before the dry summer weather arrives.

If your lawn must depend upon rain for moisture then use lots of clover in your lawn mixture. Its roots grow deep for moisture. Therefore, clover stays green even through droughts in the summer.

Here is a good mixture for general use in making a lawn in temperate areas of the country. Seventy percent Kentucky bluegrass, 10 percent red top and 20 percent red fescue.

The red top is a quick sprouter and acts as a nurse crop for the slow starting permanent grasses. Beware of mixtures that include ryegrass, timothy and other coarse hay grasses. Excessive seeding is harmful. If too much seed is sown the soil will not supply enough moisture to support the crowded seedlings.

A word of warning here, do not roll the lawn immediately after sowing the seed. Do all your rolling beforehand and leave a loose surface after your final raking. Broadcast your seed as evenly as possible, either by hand or with a seeding machine, then rake over lightly in two directions. Water with a very fine spray if necessary. If you're lucky, and a shower of rain favors you, so much the better.

When your young grass is well advanced, you can run a light roller over it then, but not before. If the seeding is done in the fall, you can leave the rolling until the spring.

BLOSSOM END ROT IS DUE TO SOIL AND CLIMATE

Once more a word about this trouble which affects ripening tomatoes, particularly in dry weather.

From now on one hears many complaints about the rot which affects the end of tomatoes, usually as they are starting to ripen, and which makes them unfit for consumption. The trouble extends throughout the ripening season, and in extreme cases may cause the loss of most of the crop. This "disease" is commonly known as blossom-end rot. It usually

Local Guides at Camp McAnlin

Twenty-five White Rock, Crescent Beach and Sunnyside Guides and five from Anniedale enjoyed a week's camping recently at their camp McAnlin, near Matquelt, under the leadership of Captain Joan Ridley.

Mrs. R. Ballard, Mrs. L. Leslie, Mrs. P. Glakin, Marilyn Leslie and Sharon Ridley were staff. After a very wet beginning, the weather improved and the Guides were able to do a lot of climbing and exploring overgrown logging trails and paths.

Mrs. Ridley followed this Guide camp with a three day pack holiday for her Brownies, in the new Brownie hut at the camp site. Her staff for this starts as a small water soaked area at the blossom end of the fruit, and may affect half or even more of the tomato. Soon the area becomes sunken, brown to black, dry and leathery. Severely affected fruits will be quite flat at the blossom end, and may be half or less the weight of a normal fruit.

All the cause for this condition are now well known, except that in the earlier part of the plants' growing season, the ground is moist, and as it gets dry and the fruit on the plants is swelling and beginning to turn color, the lack of moisture at the roots affects the whole plant, and the fruit which requires this moisture to mature, lacking which, begins to be affected by this blossom-end rot.

It seems most essential, therefore, to keep the plants well watered at regular intervals. It has been well established that it is not a disease in the sense that we usually think of, a disease, that is, there is no causal organism. It is, rather, due to a combination of soil and climatic factors.

were Mrs. D. Wilcox and Sharon Ridley.

Brownies enjoy Pack holiday

Eleven White Rock Brownies had a happy pack holiday from August 15-17 at the Keenleyside Farm, Hazelmore, under the leadership of Brown Owl Rose Ballard with Mrs. S. Ekelund, Mrs. K. Leslie and Marilyn Leslie as staff.

The program included swimming, nature hikes, compass and semaphore games, following trails, and sing songs. One night everyone dressed up as Red Indians complete with feathers and war paint.

On Sunday, Division Commissioner Mrs. A. E. Postill and District Commissioner Mrs. K. Whipple inspected the camp. During the final sing song which was attended by the parents of the Brownies, Gay Taggard was presented with her Golden Bar Badge.

Jehovah's Witnesses gear for district assembly

Mushrooming on main highways and streets in Vancouver and Fraser Valley area over the weekend are hundreds of signs announcing the largest religious convention to be held in British Columbia this year.

This is the Awake Ministers' district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Queens Park in New Westminster. Voluntary construction crews numbering more than 50 workers, donated their weekend to erect scores of large signs which will direct the more than 7,000 incoming delegates next week to the park stadium for the four-day assembly.

For months 25 workers have been busy in a fully equipped depot, painting and silkscreening signs reaching 52 feet in length. According to Bob Sjerven of 3234 Prince Edward St., Vancouver, who is directing this activity, these signs used 15 gallons of paint material, 2700 feet of paper and cloth and 7500 feet of lumber.

Then for the two days of last weekend, ministers of the Watchtower Society, volunteering their time freely, left their brief cases at home, rolled up their sleeves and spread out over the lower mainland to launch off an intensive two-week announcement of this assembly.

At the Witness headquarters at 120 - 10th Street in New Westminster, more volunteers are working 12 hours a day to complete the many arrangements needed for the incoming delegates. Rooming director for the Witnesses, Arthur Povah of 15 SEast 17th Ave., Vancouver, stated "over 1,000 volunteer workers gladly gave their time to comb New Westminster for accommodations. More than 2,000 accommodations were found in private homes, hotels and motels. We anticipate no housing shortage at this convention."

Nor will the Witness delegates go hungry. Already the practical problem of feeding such a crowd for four days has been largely licked. The retired Arenex building on the Park grounds has been given over as a cafeteria. A staff of more than 500 workers will man the steam kettles, the bake ovens and the feeding lines to distribute the food. Convention officials estimate that more than 20,000 meals must be prepared. To feed the hungry conventioners six tons of meat - the equivalent of a herd of 20 steers, have been ordered. 1600 loaves of bread must be baked and the Witness volunteers will face a pile of potatoes in excess of two tons to peel and cook.

Along with the full-course meals serve regularly, refreshment stands will dish out 1600 dozen ice cream confections, 3,000 hamburgers, 6,000 sandwiches, and over 9,000 hot dogs. This will be washed down with more than 30,000 cups of coffee and 50,000 soft drinks.

"To the Witnesses," stated convention manager, Venters Donaldson, "assemblies such as this just naturally create large appetites. It's well, like camping, like a picnic, with one big happy family."

"But we do not forget sanitation and health in this large-scale undertaking," he continued. "We caution workers to avoid touching food with bare hands and to follow rules of personal cleanliness. All tables, trays and cooking utensils are checked regularly and cleaned thoroughly. We have served millions of meals in conventions the world over for decades and we set high standards of sanitation to meet and exceed all health requirements of local authorities. The grocery bill for the four days? Well over $10,000 met by reasonably-priced meals and refreshments."

The peak attendance is expected to climb to 10,000 on Sunday, September 6, when Mr. Percy Chapman, the Canadian

'Sky's the limit' on PGE bonds

Banker and investment dealers in B.C. have been told that the new planned five percent bond issue of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway will be an "open end" issue.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said last week that the bond will not be limited to the $10,000,000 originally announced. Subscriptions will be accepted for any amount the public wish to buy.

No time limit has been set and the bonds will be kept open indefinitely or until further notice.

The bonds, maturing in three years, will be dated September 1, 1959. They will bear interest at five percent per year, payable quarterly. They will become redeemable at face value but interest will only accrue to the quarterly coupon dates. They are guaranteed by the government of B.C.

Bennett has asked employees supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses, will deliver the feature address, "When God Speaks Peace To All Nations."

to co-operate with payroll deduction plans. Members of the legislature will be able to buy the bonds as the PGE is not a government department but a separate corporation.

Circus to stage free show Sept. 1

The Shrine-PNE circus will stage the biggest free show in its history for Vancouver people who couldn't normally see it.

The show will be held at the Forum, Pacific National Exhibition grounds, at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, September 1.

Forty buses and 100 automobiles have been retained by the Shrine and the PNE to carry 5,000 guests to the fair.

The guests are underprivileged and retarded children, elderly persons, handicapped persons and the blind.

It will be the first time the circus has attempted to put on a free show for every deserving person in the city.

Street Scene

by Sylvia Walton

Ten o'clock on a summer's evening — I have been to visit a friend and am on my way home. How quiet the streets are here on top of the hill, the gardens shadowy, drawing the night about them, the lighted windows speaking of tranquility and the atmosphere of home.

Home! What a lovely word that is — perhaps the loveliest in the whole of the English language, speaking as it does of peace, security, love, those precious things which make a house into a home, and without which all the luxurious inventions of man's devising are as nothing. A vacation is surely made all the more enjoyable by thoughts of home at the end of it.

There is an old saying "Home is where the heart is," and certainly my heart is here where I live, — here in the serene beauty of the evening sky aflame now with echoes of the summer sun on its journey behind the western hills, in the dreaming sea now purple and turquoise in the changing light, in the distant islands, in the sweet everyday round, the familiar faces, in the feeling that during the two years we have lived here, roots have been struck which will live and thrive in the soil of friendship.

With these thoughts I arrive at the corner of the street on which I have the good fortune to live, and the beauty of the view is such that I have often longed for the artist's gift tonight I see it with new eyes, not looting to paint it or capture it in any way, content to thank the Lord for the eternal beauty of His world.

Another look before I close the door, and I glimpse the evening star through the wispere branches of some tall neighbor trees. Night has come early amongst the thickly laced branches of our roof tree — not a sound from my little friends up there — Time to close the door, but not to shut out the serenity of the night, it is echoed in every quiet corner of our little home.

Edmunson-Davey exchange vows at Holy Trinity Church here

Church of the Holy Trinity, White Rock, was the scene of a pretty double-ring ceremony on Friday evening, August 21, when Marilyn May, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harry Davey of White Rock became the bride of Robert Walter Edmunson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur John Edmunson of Hammond.

Rev. Harry Berry officiated at the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length gown of silk organza with scalloped neckline formed with hand clipped tulle lace. The bodice with lowered scalloped waistline accentuated the full bouffant skirt which was caught in a large bow at the back, cascading into a chapel train.

The long lily point sleeves portrayed the classic gown. The matching head-piece was a dainty crown with three-tiered illusion veil. The bride carried a bouquet of soft pink roses. Matron of honor was Mrs. Anne Gay and brides matrons were Mrs. Delores Higgins and Mrs. Beth Fuller. Bridesmaid was Miss Sharon Franklin and little Donna-Lynn Edmunson, the groom's niece was flower girl.

They wore soft pink nylon chiffon gowns of cocktail length with matching picture hats and white pearl accessories. Each carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The flower girl was adorned in a white and pink party dress and pink rose head piece. Best man was Mr. Philip Horton and ushers were Mr. Don Edmunson, Mr. Roland Fuller, Mr. Lyle Kirkpatrick and Master Ian Davey.

Miss Sharon Franklin, soloist sang the Wedding Prayer during the signing of the register. Organist was Mrs. S. Suddes.

Pouring at the head table was Mr. Don Wills, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Ken Sewell, cousin of the groom.

For her going-away costume the bride chose a cherry red wool two-piece suit with red flowered hat and matching accessories.

After a honeymoon in the B.C. Interior and the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Edmunson will make their home at 1611 Dublin Street, New Westminster.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Art Hill of Edmonson and the bride's uncles Bill and Frank Fontaine and cousin Al Hougue of Wetaskiwin, Alberta.

Other guests from Hammond.

Hamby, Victoria, Vancouver, Burnaby, North Vancouver, Cloverdale and Mission were also present.
